

OPEIU Local 50/ Hawaii Nurses Association
Department Steward/Chief Steward Selection Process

Initial steps to the selection process:

- 1) Labor Relations Specialist/Labor Representative agent of each facility will identify the interim chief steward.
- 2) Together they will identify potential steward volunteers by following the “Steward Selection Process” (see below).
- 3) Once the stewards are in place, that group will nominate a chief steward candidate for their facility from amongst themselves.

Steward Selection Process:

- 1) Candidates from each department or clinic (as contractually designated) (hereafter referred to as “department”) will be identified and provided a position description stating responsibilities.
- 2) LRS/ Labor Representative for each facility will assist in identifying candidates.
- 3) Candidates must then obtain a “Union Steward Petition of Intent”, signed by candidate’s department co-workers.
- 4) If more than one person is interested in becoming the steward for a department, and the applicable collective bargaining agreement imposes caps, then they can choose either:
 - a. Have a department election for the contested position; or
 - b. Abide by applicable bargaining unit contract language; or
 - c. Be named alternate steward (without super seniority).
- 5) Stewards and chief stewards take appropriate training provided by OPEIU Local 50/HNA as soon as is practicable.

Attendance at membership meetings qualifies as trainings for this requirement.

- 6) Stewards and chief stewards must be appointed by the OPEIU Local 50/HNA Executive Board. The chief steward must be the primary steward for their department.

Requirements:

- Must be OPEIU Local 50/HNA member in good standing.

Length of terms:

or obligations of the role. A Recommendation for Removal will be taken to the Executive Board, who will vote on removing the chief steward.

- Stewards are appointed by the Executive Board after they submit a “Steward Petition of Intent”. They may remain in office for a 3-year term; or until they resign; or are removed due to not meeting the requirements, or responsibilities, or obligations of the position. The OPEIU Local 50/HNA Executive Board may remove a steward who does not meet the requirements, responsibilities, role, or obligations of the role. A steward’s term is automatically renewed without re-filing a petition of intent, unless there is another candidate who desires to be steward (see selection process # 4).
